LAFCO Faces Problem of 'Dividing' North County Area

By DON GRIERSON

Members of the San Mateo Local Agency Formation Commission held their first "sphere of influence" hearings in the North County last week, but the contested session concluded with no major decisions reached.

Commissioners were stymied by conflicting and concurrent claims to vast portions of San Bruno Mountain entered by Daly City, South San Francisco and Brisbane, and bids for San Francisco International Airport by San Bruno, South San Francisco and Millbrae.

The only significant decision reached was to award the modest claim of the City of Colma for retention of its present boundaries, and this motion was later rescinded because of complications arising from the San Bruno Mountain dispute.

The afternoon hearings began with consideration of the "sphere of influence" applications of San Bruno and Millbrae, and it soon became apparent that officials from each of the two cities were bent upon claiming the airport, as well as undeveloped areas owned by the City of San Francisco on the west side of Bayshore Freeway, within their "sphere."

Commissioners awarded a small area between the present Millbrae city limits and the freeway to Millbrae, and postponed a decision on the larger issue of the airport proper.

Though representatives from each of the cities adjacent to the airport agreed there is little possibility the City of San Francisco will make the facility available for annexation "within the foreseeable future," each city presented a case for having it included within its "sphere of influence."

San Bruno City Manager Gerard Vergeer maintained his city "exerts the greatest physical influence" upon the airport, Millbrae officials claimed a proposed new overpass to the airport would create closer ties with that city, and South San Francisco City Planner Daniel Pass said his city is "best equipped to provide the industrial type services required by the airport."

B. Sherman Coffman, LAFCO's executive officer, commented that the entire question involving the airport "might well be academic" due to the fact that it is owned and serviced by the City of San Francisco.

Following the hearing on San Bruno and Millbrae's "spheres," the commission heard the claims of Daly City, South San Francisco and Brisbane, each of which attempted to establish control of large portions of San Bruno Mountain.

The Daly City proposal, presented by City Planner John Walker, called for inclusion of almost the entire mountain within that city's sphere.

In addition to San Bruno Mountain, Daly City sought to have Broadmoor, unincorporated Colma, Graden Village, the ed Colma, Garden Village, th Crocker Industrial Park area adjacent to Brisbane and various "unincorporated islands" surrounded by the city within its sphere.

The Daly City application conflicted with the "sphere" claims of both Brisbane and South San Farncisco.

The Brisbane presentation, taken from the city's general plan, called for inclusion of the entire northeast side of the mountain within that city's sphere to be considered for possible annexation.

Brisbane officials also revealed ambitions for expanding their city to the north, to include the Crocker Industrial Park area, which is now served by the Brisbane fire and police departments.

Their application would place the entire area acting as a watershed toward the city under Brisbane's control, and the plan resembled a giant amphitheatre, with the hillside homes enjoying an unobstructed view of the Bay.

South San Francisco's proposed sphere includes the area of San Bruno Mountain sloping toward that city and forming its northerly boundary.

Pass said the city's proposal is justified because of the watershed factor and because the side of the mountain is "visually a part of our city."

"We have no vast plans to put a heavy concentration of population on the mountain, and feel that it should be left as open space," he said.

However, Pass said he feels the slope of the mountain can be "urbanized" to the 500-foot level.

In addition to the mountain area, South San Francisco requested that Country Club Park, the California Golf Club and the McClellan Nursery be considered for possible annexation to that city.

Commissioners requested that each of the cities involved in the San Bruno Mountain issue prepare color overlay maps indicating their proposals, and present the maps at another meeting scheduled May 28.

Commissioners James Fitzgerald and Robert St. Clair said they wished to tour the area in question before making a decision, and they also instructed Coffman to contact the owners of the property "to get their feelings on future development."

At the morning session of the LAFCO meeting, San Bruno Councilman Maurice Hamilton was re-elected chairman of the commission, and Menlo Park Mayor William Lawson was re-elected vice chairman.

St. Clair sat on the commission Wednesday in the place of Supervisor Jean Fassler, who was absent because of illness.

Airport Project In S.S.F.

South San Francisco councilmen approved a grading permit for a new San Francisco International Airport expansion site in the city Monday, but attached a condition that the airport project must conform to local zoning laws.

The permit was made "conditional" upon the request of City Planner Daniel Pass.

Pass said a recent decision from the district attorney's office exempts the airport from complying with city building regulations, "but they must still adhere to the zoning regulations."

Robert G. Lee, chief engineer for the airport, said the new $2.5 million project will consist of a sewage treatment plant and additional maintenance buildings. The site is located adjacent to the South San Francisco Scavenger Company fill area, and the Coastguard station.

The area, comprising the present Coast Guard facility, will eventually be filled and developed by the airport also, according to Lee.

Council Names David Rowe As Replacement

Ed Frank, Daly City's city manager for the past nine years, Monday announced his resignation, effective July 31 of this year, and Mayor Bernard Lycett announced the appointment of Frank's administrative assistant, David Rowe, as his replacement.

The change in personnel in the top administrative post was announced at a meeting of all city department heads and members of the council at a meeting at Toto's Restaurant Monday afternoon.

"We are aware this event had been anticipated by many within the ranks of city personnel, but I wanted you to be the first to receive the formal announcement," Lycett told the department heads.

Lycett and other council members praised the veteran manager for "a job well done" during his tenure in the city, and noted some of the numberous strides in civic progress completed during the past nine years, such as the new $1 million civic center complex.

Frank, who came to Daly City from Petaluma, where he also served as manager for several years, indicated to the council two years ago that he planned to retire soon after reaching age 65, but did not give a specific date until Monday's announcement.

"I have long been a believer in the concept of retirement at 65," he said, "and have in fact looked forward to it."

Frank said he intends to work part-time and "play an awful (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Automobile Registration Extended

Governor Ronald Reagan this week announced a 10-day extension of the deadline for 1969 automobile registration without penalty.

Reagan said he had asked State Director of Motor Vehicles Vernon Orr to extend the renewal period until February 14 because "thousands of Californians have had their schedules disrupted by the January floods."

Prior to the extension, the deadline for renewing registration was February 4.

S.S.F. Police Oppose New Flea Market

South San Francisco councilmen postponed a decision on a business license application for a flea market in the city Monday, after Police Chief John Fabbri recommended denial of the permit on grounds the business would create "extensive policing problems."

"It has been disclosed in other jurisdictions that this type of business creates extensive policing problems and attracts undesirable elements," Fabbri said.

"It would not be in the best interest of the safety, health and general welfare of the City of South San Francisco (to grant the business license)" a memorandum from the chief stated.

International Acclaim For Crestmoor Program

An experimental "motivational innovation" at Crestmoor High School in San Bruno has gained national and even international attention in education circles since its inception four years ago, teachers in the program disclosed this week.

The project, "Words and Numbers in Industrial Arts," involves the combination of mathematics, English and industrial arts into a single course of study to provide general education motivation for students who would not otherwise be interested in the academic subjects.

According to industrial arts teacher Cloyce Frazer, one of the originators of the program, the school has received requests for information on the project from educators in 25 states and Canada, and it is believed to be the only such course offered in the United States.

Based upon a system of teaching through the use of concrete objects with immediate application of the skills and ideas learned, the course provides students an opportunity to observe and practice the application of math and language skills in industrial arts projects.

and Clell Bontrager of the

Involved in the special program with Frazer are English mathematics department.

Each member of the teaching teacher Mrs. Patricia Knowles team provides individual instruction in his specialty to students working on industrial arts or arts and crafts projects. Two teaching assistants also aid in instructing the 53 students in the program.

Students for the special classes, which meet two hours each day, are chosen on the basis of whether or not they are likely to benefit, according to Frazer.

Along with a significant increase in motivation to learn math and English, teachers have observed that students in the course frequently develop a more positive attitude toward school in general after seeing physical results of their educational accomplishments.

Students in the course have learned English and math at a pace equal to or exceeding the rate of achievement in regular classes, the teachers said, and many of the Words and Numbers students have been able to pass some of the basic English and math courses.

As each student works on a specific shop project, usually such arts and craft projects as woodcarving, leathercraft, sewing and metal design, he is required to write correct specifications, descriptions and material lists, and to figure cost estimates and work time.

"The purpose of English in the program is to improve the students' ability to do descriptive writing about concrete objects, and, through this, to help students recognize the need for improving their English skills," Mrs. Knowles said.

Each written description is reviewed by the teacher in the presence of the student, and the papers are then rewritten and submitted for final approval.

"The dual advantage of this course is high motivation and great flexibility," the English teacher said. "During the one-hour laboratory period each day, the students are free to work on any aspect of their project, and to work at their own pace."

The purpose of the mathematics portion of the program is to improve the students' basic skills in such areas as arithmetical operations, conversion of fractions to decimals and decimals to fractions, and the use of simple formulas.

They are also introduced to such concepts as "the use of ap- (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Dennis Blasts Commute Tax

Daly City Councilman Edward J. Dennis this week again urged San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto to rescind the commuter tax presently before the appellate court.

"Unfair legislation of this type only inspires the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors and our 18 municipalities to react by passing legislation in retaliation," Dennis said.

"This, indeed, is not a healthy atmosphere to penalize working people for simply crossing a county line in order to earn an honest livelihood."

Dennis urged every San Mateo County commuter to write a "protest letter" to Mayor Alioto, urging him to abandon the commuter tax concept.

Teachers Off For Spain

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sawyer of Daly City, teachers in the Jefferson Elementary School District, are leaving this month to serve as Youth for service missionaries in Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer will study for two months in Switzerland, then visit the Holy Land for five weeks before taking up missionary duties in Spain for the non-denominational organization.

The Sawyers expect to return to Daly City next year.

Westmoor Library Plan

Students are questioning the world around them. Westmoor's humanities class, in an effort to help provide partial answers, has begun a humanities library.

Fifty dollars worth of books are available to students on loan. The selection includes philosophy, and anthropology and fiction.

Just reading a book won't solve the problems of the universe. A book can though, give a student the opportunity to recognize a problem. The right book can focus a hazy idea into a clear thought of action. If Westmoor's humanities library can bring these "right" books to the students' attention.

"flea market" operation to be conducted at Number One Linden Avenue.

Appearing before the council Monday, Mrs. Yates said she needed a decision on the matter immediately "because of a lease arrangement," but councilmen voted to consider the matter further at a study session.

A city ordinance specifies that operators of "second hand stores" must submit to fingerprinting, and waive the right to inspection of merchandise and goods on their premises "at any time during business hours."

The waiver must be filed with the city prior to the issuance of a business license for such operations, under the ordinance.

The city regulation also requires the "primary licensee" of a flea market to maintain records of all goods bought and sold.

ARE YOU EMPLOYED IN SAN FRANCISCO?

Real Error Alioto's Commuter Tax

REACT

Dear Commuter:

We taxpayers of San Mateo County who are employed in San Francisco, must appeal to Mayor Joseph Alioto to recind the Commute tax presently in appellate court.

Unfair legislation of this type only inspires the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors and our eighteen municipalities to "REACT" by passing legislation in retaliation.

This, indeed, is not a healthy atmosphere to penalize working people for simply crossing a county line in order to earn an honest livelihood.

Thus, in the interest of fair play in local governments, each "commuter" can help by writing a protest letter to Mayor Joseph Alioto, City Hall, San Francisco, California.

Permits Up In Pacifica

Building permits for new construction and additions totalling $608,322 were issued during December in Pacifica, Chief Building Official Philip W. Mayo reported.

A total of 42 building permits were issued, with 23 for new residences, 17 residential additions, one commercial addition and one demolition. A total of 47 permits were issued in December, 1967, for building with a total value of $592,332.

proximation as a check on the reasonableness of answers, ratio, proportion and comparison and linear and exponential growth."

The most important goal, however, is "to develop a favorable student attitude toward mathematics," Bontrager said.

An informal atmosphere prevails in the special classes, and students receive a high proportion of individual attention. Both boys and girls from the four high school grades are enrolled.

One gratifying side effect of the program has been an almost total absence of disciplinary problems among the students, many of whom were considered problem students before enrolling in Words and Numbers, according to the teachers.

"We consider the general behavior of students in this course a particularly satisfying result of gearing activities to student interests and needs," Frazer said.

The special program was developed as part of the San Mateo Union High School District's continuing innovation program, school officials said, and is still undergoing changes and improvements.

Food, Kitchen Tools, Beer Are Stolen

Kitchen utensils, food and beer valued at several hundred dollars were taken from a San Bruno restaurant in a burglary sometime Saturday or Sunday, police reported today.

Officers said Kay's Restaurant, 1225 San Mateo Avenue, was entered by prying off the window of a storage room at the rear of the building.

Ten cases of beer, several cases of tuna fish, clam chowder, bean soup and canned vegetables were taken, along with "practically all the kitchen utensils," officers said.

S.S.F. Police Win Sixty Gun Trophies

More than 60 trophies have been won in nine state competitive matches by the South San Francisco police regulars and reserves.

The reserves team was responsible for winning a marksman classification at the state finalist match in Tracy. The local teams participate against law enforcement agencies throughout the state. They fire the police practical course, part of the FBI's course, which is regulated by a State Pistol Club Association. The best possible score is 300 with many of the South San Francisco team members averaging about 290.

No Challenge To Candidate At Westmoor

The recent spring semester student body elections at Westmoor High Schol were not as hotly contested as the recent national elections. Incumbent Charles Freiberg was unopposed in his bid for re-election. He will continue to preside over the student body with the help of eight incumbent officers and one novice member on the executive board.

Charlie has had previous experience on the executive board, having served as vice-president during his junior year. His major plans for the spring semester include the raising of money for the Information and Referral Center, draft counseling, and better lunchtime activities.

Elaine Chiosso will continue in her capacity as vice-president, her main concern being the over-all organizer of student activities. Elaine is also involved in a committee which is presently looking into the possibility of a course in the international language, Esperanto.

Secretary Chris Van Zandt will continue supervising the paper work of the student body, and Treasurer Kathy Blume will maintain control over the students' monetary concerns.

Shel Klein and Bruce Pope will continue keeping student law and order in the positions of judge of the Student Court and head sergeant-at-arms, respectively.

Publicity of student body happenings will be handled by junior Debbie Shapiro, commissioner of publicity. Debbie has previously served her class as president and is responsible for organizing of a girls' Powder-Puff football team.

Junior Chris Sullivan will fill the only vacated seat on the executive board as commissioner of cubs. She will be responsible for keeping the student body informed of club news and organizing extra-curricular activities. Chris, who is active in speech work, will travel to Los Angeles in February to compete in the National Forensic Finals.

Candy Sousa will continue in her position as rally commissioner. She will head the Rally Committee and organize rallies.

S.S.F. Club Schedules Skate Night Next Week

The South San Francisco Recreation Department Teen Club program has scheduled an Ice Skating Night on Friday, February 7 from 7:00 till 11:00 p.m.

The activity will be held at a San Francisco ice skating establishment and will be supervised by adult recreation leaders. Public transportation will be provided to and from the activity as part of the over-all fee.

Sign ups are on a first come, first served basis.

Any South San Francisco teenager from junior high through senior high age is welcome to participate in all teen club activities. The center, located in the Magnolia Recreation Building at Magnolia and Grand Avenues, is currently open on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. and on Friday evenings from 6:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. Live dance bands, film, and other special events are scheduled on a monthly basis.

For further information on the ice skating night or any other teen club program, interested teens and parents are invited to call the Magnolia Recreation Building during the above hours. For information on the entire Recreation Department program contact the Parks Department.

Daly City Young GOP Organizing

An organizational meeting to duscuss the formation of a Young Republican group in the Daly City area will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Westlake Bowl.

A representative of the Republican County Central Committee will be on hand to answer questions and discuss the steps of formation of the group.

Co-chairmen of the organizing group are Michael Lucchesi and Jeff Harris, both students at Westmoor High School.

Trailer Is Consumed In Bruno Fire

A small house trailer parked in the driveway of a San Bruno residence was gutted by flames Monday afternoon, fire department spokesmen said.

Firemen said the fire started in a bed in the trailer about 12:30 p.m. The trailer, which belongs to James Phillips, 565 Fifth Avenue, San Bruno, was "supposedly unoccupied" when the fire started, authorities said.

Damage was estimated at $2,500, the approximate value of the trailer.

Ryan Fires A Blast At Reagan

Assemblyman Leo Ryan (Dem, Burlingame) chairman of an assembly subcommittee on education, charged last week that Governor Reagan's policies will prevent serious college students from completing their education.

At a press conference, Ryan said that he learned that at Sacramento State, for example, nearly a thousand sophomore students currently enrolled at the college may not be allowed to register for their junior term because of financial cutbacks. "Their applications are being stockpiled and they may be out," said Ryan.

"Unless the governor reverses his policies immediately he can be considered equally guilty in fanning the fires of dissension which are destroying higher education in the state" Ryan stated. "Up through the terms of at least the last three governors, California's policy for admissions to higher education has been a totally open and free enrollment system based upon intellectual ability and individul ambition. I charge that Governor Reagan is deliberately and systematically attempting to change that policy. In effect he is punishing the students who want to get in rather than those who should drop out."

Ryan charged that his committee on financing education held a hearing in November and State Director of Finance Caspar Weinberger was invited to attend but failed to show and failed to send a representative.

The assemblyman noted also that the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday attempted to increase a student aid bill by Assemblyman Pete Wilson from a $575,000 appropriation to $2,000,000. Ryan said he asked Weinberger if he would support the amendment. He refused to do so, said Ryan, commenting only that if the bill went to the governor's desk in that form he probably would sign it.

Ryan noted the first day of classes for state colleges begins February 6. The Wilson bill cannot possibly get out of Assembly before Monday and cannot get out of the Senate before next week passes. By that time it will be February 10 and thousands of students will be forced to cancel education plans, he said.

"Unless the Governor takes action immediately we can only draw these conclusions from the Governor's deliberate failure to act over the last few months:

1. At least 4,000 decent youngsters who have been pursuing their studies without disruption or striking, will be sitting on the curb for at lest six months wondering what to do.

2. This will be the second significant move to limit enrollment in higher education and will be a direct violation of the policy of open enrollment which this State has had in at least the last 35 years under governors of both parties.

3. It will indicate that Governor Reagan talks about maintaining law and order on our campuses, but is not interested in providing college space for students whose parents cannot afford to pay substantially for the privilege.

4. Instead of easing the tensions on our campuses, the Governor's actions will add vast numbers to the picket lines and demonstrations by low-income and minority students who have been refused entrance.

Daly City Sky Lions Attend Annual Meet

The Sky Lions of Daly City were represented at the Fiftieth Annual District Four Convention of Lions International held recently in Fresno, by President and Mrs. Rino Ceccato of Daly City, and District 4C4 Youth Exchange Chairman and Mrs. Ken Morris, of South San Francisco.

The spotlight was on youth throughout the entire convention, reports President Ceccato, who further relates that there were young people present to perform, both in singing and dancing, and to demonstrate Japanese dances, the playing of the Koto, Karate and Judo.

Among the youth projects in action by the Lions are: assistance to blind students through providing guide dogs, Braille typewriters and other special equipment, and Braille books written in any language needed, and on any subject of interest. Scholarship totaling thousands of dollars given by local Lions Club each year on the high school, college and university levels.

The student speakers contest provides an opportunity for competitive public speaking among students on a subject of vital interest to the contestants and to the American people as a whole.

County Tax Rate Lowest In California

County government services continue to be low in San Mateo County, statistics released yerterday by the County Supervisors Association of California reveal.

San Mateo County tied with Orange County statewide for the third lowest tax rate among 58 California counties at $1.68 per $100 assessed valuation.

The figures for 1968 showed tax rates were up in 28 counties (the highest, Yuba County at $4.14) down in 26 counties (the lowest, San Benito County at $1.47) and remained the same in three counties.

For the past three consecutive years San Mateo County's rate was the lowest of 58 counties in the State.

In the nine Bay Area counties, San Mateo County was well below its neighboring county governments, all of whom reached and exceeded $2 in their rates as follows:

Alameda, $2.40; Contra Costa, $2.17; Marin, $2.27; Napa, $2.47; Santa Clara, $2.05; Solano, $2.00; and Sonoma, $3.02.

Open Bids For Freeway

A $1,720,000 freeway construction project in San Benito County and three smaller Bay Area projects, are being advertised for bids by the California Division of Highways.

Traffic safety will be improved at an intersection on Cabrillo Highway (Route 1) in Pacifica, San Mateo County.

Left-turn storage lanes will be constructed for both northbound and southbound traffic at San Pedro Avenue-San Pedro Terrace Road, where Route curves.

Bids will be opened February 26 in Sacramento. Approximately $45,000 is available for the project, including a $7,000 contribution by the City of Pacifica.

THE PENNEY STORY
"This dress? I picked it up at Penney's."
By ROBERTA NASH
Once upon a time, women wanted their friends to think all their dresses came from the expensive stores with fancy labels.
But today it seems to be part of the fun to say, "I picked it up at Penney's."
The editor of a famous women's magazine believes today's woman is more certain of her own good taste when she goes shopping. She knows quality and style and she knows what's right for her —and she doesn't need the reassurance of a hefty price tag.
Hooray for today's woman!

Another Penney First!
For 3 days only...
(Thurs., Fri., Sat.)
every one of our $9 and $10
reduced 20%!

Only Penneys could treat your budget to savings like these so early in the season! Hurry over and fill your wardrobe with several of the latest and greatest dress looks going! Find breezy, casual skimmers plus those beautiful basics you love because they're sophisticated enough to carry you confidently from office to dinner date. Take your pick from whisper sheer Dacron® polyester/cotton voiles, crisp cotton blends, neater-than-ever knits, textured rayon blends, supple rayon/acetate crepes and more in bold and subtle patterns, solids, even two-toners. Enough colors to delight everyone. Get a headstart on Spring today!

USES THREE LANES

Stolen Daly City Car Caught In 120-MPH Bayshore Chase

A car stolen in Daly City last week was recovered by the Californi Highway Patrol minutes later at the end of a 120-mile-an-hour chase down Bayshore Freeway.

chase down Bayshore Freeway.

Patrolmen John Diskon and Louis Capurro said the speeding auto used all three lanes and missed striking four CHP cars and eight to 10 private autos by the narrowest of margins.

Six CHP units and two Mountain View police cars took part in the chase.

The officers said a radio broadcast on the stolen auto, which is owned by John C. Perez, 405 Palmcrest Dirve, Daly City, was made at 3 a.m. Five minutes later they went after a speeding car on Bayshore in San Mateo.

Diskon and Capurro said they were unable to close the gap much until the stolen car passed another CHP auto, driven by Sgt. Warren P. Worsham, in Redwood City. The stolen car, which had been doing better than 100, slowed down, enabling Diskon and Capurro to catch up.

When the officers turned on their red light and siren, howeyer, the auto speeded up again to a speed in excess of 120 miles an hour. Other cars joined the chase, which the officers said followed an erratic course making use of the entire width of the freeway. Several times, the patrolmen reported, collisions were avoided only by fast reactions on the part of officers and private motorists.

At the county line, Diskon and Capurro said, the stolen car began to smoke and slow down. Their windshield was covered with oil.

Finally, near Moffett Field, the stolen car was boxed in and forced to a stop.

The driver, James Ray White, 19-year-old Foothill College student of 1314 Hollyburne Street, Menlo Park, was booked at county jail on charges of auto theft, reckless driving, and failure to have a license in his possession.

New Chance To Discover Vocations

Adults who want to discover if they are "round pegs in square holes" and fitted for a different job will be able to find out during College of San Mateo's evening guidance course, vocational counseling, in only a short three-week period.

Guidance 65 meets with instructor Edmund Shimm for three weeks in class sessions and one counseling appointment. Classes are held Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

The course covers tests of interest, personality, aptitude, achievement and special skills, as well as counseling on special job opportunities and skills needed.

Further information is available from the evening college.

$ Million Sale In S.S.F

A deed filed in the office of San Mateo County Recorder-Clerk Marvin Church last week month.

indicates a sale price of more than $3 million in the Westborough Planned Community land transaction in South San Fran-

Stamps on the documents filed in connection with the mammoth land deal totaled $3,400.65.

South San Francisco councilmen approved the sale of most of the undeveloped portions of the planned community last week.

The tracts were purchased from the original developer, Caesar-Callan Homes, Inc., by a new firm, South San Francisco Corporation.

The new buyers reportedly have the backing of financial concerns in Southern California.

1969 Grand Jury Sworn In

The 1969 San Mateo County Grand Jury of 12 men and seven women was sworn in last week in Redwood City by Superior Judge Frank B. Blum.

Judge Blum named Ulmont R. Kendree, of Daly City, leasing manager for the Doelger Corporation, as foreman of the grand jury after members had been administered their oath by Court Clerk Mrs. Emily Galloway.

The judge read the jury the general list of charges, stating he had no specific charge to submit. He informed the jury of its "serious function" and of its investigative rights and access to information from public records and offices.

Selected to the grand jury by lot from a panel of 30 were:

Robert H. Barr, 1611 Oakdell Avenue, Menlo Park, vice president, Allied Maintenance Service; Mrs. Ruth M. Bradley, 206 South Eldorado Street, San Mateo, union secretary; John Burszan Jr., 2512 Kaston Drive, Burlingame, operations supervisor for a San Leandro trucking firm; Mrs. Margaret Canadas, 407 San Benito, Half Moon Bay, a housewife; Lyn Cinti, 3935 Ralston Avenue, Hillsborough, tile contractor.

Mrs. Rita L. Gilmore, 431 Hurlingham Avenue, San Mateo, a housewife; Jack H. Grady, 2874 Hillside Drive, Burlingame, president of Fireboard Corporation, San Francisco; Ulmont R. Kendree, 80 Montrose Avenue, Daly City, leasing manager, Doelger Corporation; Raymond J. Kirk, 2225 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno, wood grainer; Mrs. Ruth W. Kokjer 42 Stoakbridge Avenue, Atherton, a housewife.

Donald C. Lind, 141 Wellesley Crescent, Redwood City, a mortician; Edwin A. Maillard, 60 Wessex Way, San Carlos, retired police capatin; Dr. Frank Mann, 2140 Ward Way, Redwood City, an optometrist; Mrs. Allis B. McCormack, 2103 Cipriani Boulevard, Belmont, a housewife; William McDonald, 2704 Arguello Drive, Burlingame, an automobile dealer.

Elijah Randolph, 158 Woodrow Avenue, Daly City, naval shipyard worker; Mrs. Ruth E. Spiteri, 500 Magnolia Avenue, South San Francisco, a housewife; John D. Tuttle, 721 University Drive, Menlo Park, plant maintenance man for the Post Office Department; Mrs. Mary Wright, 339 Paramount Drive, Millbrae, a housewife.

After receiving the public charge from Judge Blum, the jury convened to meet in private to select its committee members and other officers and to confer with Chief Deputy District Attorney Robert E. Garey.

Burglars At D.C. Office

The L & M Electronics Company of 2401 Geneva Avenue, Daly Ciyt, last week reported the theft of two cameras, a typewriter and a voltmeter. The burglars smashed a window to gain entry into the store, Daly City police said.

Ryan Urging New Pay Hike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State legislators — with a wary eye on voter reaction — showed a healthy but cautious interest last week in a suggestion they raise their $16,000-a-year salaries.

The suggestion came from Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-Burlingame, who wrote colleagues urging a "strong bipartisan effort" this year for a cost-of-iiving salary hike. It was timely, Ryan said, because Congress is thinking along the same lines for itself.

Pay raises for the legislators were provided for in revision of the constitution which the voters approved in 1966 as Proposition 1-A.

But the document limits any increase to 5 per cent a year. And it provides any increase enacted would not apply until after the next general election.

If one were passed this year, all 80 assemblymen and 20 of the 40 senators would have to win re-election in 1970 to receive the higher pay in 1971.

Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, said he'd go along with a salary increase "on the basis of the cost of living with the realization, of course, that it doesn't apply to legislators who are now serving."

Sen. George Moscone, San Francisco, Democratic floor leader in the upper house, also voiced support.

"I shocldn't think any legislator shoud feel timid about following the mandate of a constitutional amendment unless he isn't satisfied with his work," said Moscone.

Senate Republican leader Donald L. Grunsky, Watsonville, said he personally felt a pay raise was "quite in order" and "well justified" but conceded many senators might not support it at this time.

Grunsky noted the last time the Senate Republicans caucused on the subject they rejected a pay increase.

Assembly Democratic Leader Jess M. Unruh, Inglewood, said he was opposed to any salary increase until the legislatcre first approved a tough conflict of interest law requiring full disclosure by a public official of his assets. Unruh said he plans introduction of such legislation Thursday.

Proposition 1-A that inaugurated annual sessions fixed the salary at $16,000. Lawmakers also receive $25 a day expenses while attending sessions and interim hearings and use of a state-leased car.

The average pay and expenses received by the 120 legislators in 1968 was slightly above $21,000. Before the annual sessions were approved, lawmakers were paid $6,000 annually plus a per diem and mileage while on legislative business.

Ryan wrote: "We can presume then that the people of this state wanted a salary of $16,000 per year with an annual adjustment based approximately on the rise of the cost of living."

Federal cost-of-living indices Ryan attached to his letter showed living costs increased 9 per cent since the salaries were fixed at $16,000.

That would give a pay increase of $1,140 to $17,140 annually if applied to the present salary.

If the 5 per cent maximum specified in the constitution were used for a bill enacted this year becoming effective in 1971, salaries would increase $3,200 to $19,200.

Louanne Heath's Datebook

Saturday will be a busy and exciting one for the members of the Daly City Community Chorus, according to Mrs. Adela Zamora, a spokeswoman for the group.

The chorus will perform, for the second time this year, for the International Order of Forresters at noon in the San Francisco Hilton on February 8 and that same evening the songsters will be the honored guests of the Forresters National Convention committee during the lodge's national convention Ball to be held in the Hilton.

Dennis Desjardins will conduct the musical presentation during the luncheon session and Mrs. Janet Holden will accompany the chorus.

For those who are not acquainted with the chorus, it is sponsored by the Daly City Park and Recreation Department and it is open to all localites over 18 years of age. No auditions and no fees are involved in chorus membership, only the desire for an opportunity to sing with a friendly group of men and women from your own community. Rehearsals are held on Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. in the Westmoor Club House and the public is invited to drop by at any session. Persons wishing to speak with Desjardins about securing the amateur musical aggregation for a program or if you would like to discuss the possibility of joining the chorus, call him evenings at 756-7086.

Members of the Pacifica Federated Women's Club held their January meeting on the twenty-first of last month in the multi-purpose room of Terra Nova High School.

Mrs. Laurence Matheus presided over the meeting which featured a lecture on hair styling and makeup by Pauline Castello. Mrs. Don Halverson is the club's publicity chairman.

Mrs. Olive Rubek, of Beta Sigma Sorority, reminds everyone that the sisters of the sorority are still collecting desirable items for a rummage sale planned for April.

The chapter hopes to assist in sending a boy to camp, (under the Guardsman's Campership program) with the proceeds of the sale.

Anyone having old clothing, dishes, furniture, small appliances, bric-brac, books or records, may arrange to have the donation picked up by calling 755-1618.

Willard Wagner, chairman of entertainment and tours for the Westlake Senior Citizens Club, has announced that the group is planning for several outtings in the weeks ahead. Trips to Carmel, Monterey, the San Martin Winery and the Healdsburg Prune Festival are all in the planning stage.

This will be the fourth year that the senior citiezns have sojourned north to enjoy the festival in Healdsburg. In addition to riding through the blossom filled orchards, the members have a luncheon served by the members of the Alexander Valley Farm Bureau and wind up the outing with a visit to the Italian Swiss Colony Winery.

Should the club's agenda sound interesting to you, Wagner emphasizes that membership is open to everyone over 50 years of age. Meetings are held in the club rooms located in the social hall of the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Southgate at Elmwood Drive, each Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

All tours and treks are available to members at very low prices, Wagner stated, and the fellowship within the club makes it an extremely enjoyable group to spend Wednesdays with!

Mrs. Jay DeBarros and her committee of talented craftswomen are busily engaged in concocting the table decorations for the Holy Angels Women's Guild's annual luncheon and fashion show set to make its bow on March 15.

According to Mrs. Patrick Regan, publicity chairman for the show, entitled The Red Carpet, this is a busy period for all the show's committeewomen and certainly for Mrs. Don Peyrucain, Mrs. Al Semenero and Mrs. Noel Metens who are in7 charge of the donations and Mrs. Stanley Kettell and Mrs. Raymond Nightingale who are in charge of the donaels. Mrs. Albert Spadaro, who is the chairman of the hostesses, will introduce the ladies who will be greeting the guests at the March 15 event during tonight's regular monthly meeting of the guild.

Mrs. David Rushka will be presiding at this evening's gathering in the parish hall and Mrs. Edward Oliva, first vice president and program chairman, will introduce the special guest, Arthur J. Winterhalter, director of Adult Education in the parish. Winterhalter will speak on Family Life.

Preparing to ably represent the North Peninsula at the annual band festival in Tracy next weekend are the members of the Westmoor Stage band.

Edison Founders Day Set

Thomas Edison P-TA will present its annual Founders' Day program Thursday, Feb. 13, in the school's multi-use room.

The public is cordially invited to these festivities which feature a spaghetti dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tickets costing $1.25 per plate may be purchased at the school's office or by calling Mrs. James Doran, 756-6419.

The business meeting at 7:30 will honor this year's recipient of a life membership award, given for outstanding service to the youth of the community and especially Thomas Edison School. Mrs. Norman Steinberg, life membership committee chairman, will make the presentation.

Nominations to elect a nominating committee for executive board officers for the coming year will be made.

Founders' Day chairman, Mrs. Matt MacRumnels, and co-chairman, Mrs. Richard Futrell, and group will entertain with a show that they feel represents serious competition to the Rowan and Martin television weekly "Laugh-In."

Plan now to enjoy dinner and a show with good friends and neighbors.

No admission charge. Dinner tickets sold in advance only.

THOMAS MORGAN, VALERIE RONNING
Engagement is Announced at Party

South City Man Engaged to Marry

A New Year's Eve celebration at the South San Francisco home of Mr. and Mrs. John Herbert Morgan was the occasion for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ronning of Chico to announce the engagement of their daughter, Valerie Ellen, to Thomas Alan Morgan, son of the hosts.

The bride-elect was graduated from Chico High School and now is a student at Butte College. She is the sister of Eric Ronning and the granddaughter of Marvel Faulkner of Chico. Valerie is a member of the Sons of Norway.

Her fiance attended South San Francisco High School and the College of San Mateo and played soccer for the San Francisco Vikings. A private pilot, he is the brother of Jere James Morgan and the grandson of Mrs. Madeline Ingebretsen of San Francisco.

The engagement party also celebrated the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Olivas, long-time friends of the Morgans.

Valerie and Thomas have not set a wedding date.

Committee Head SSFWC's Speaker

Chairman of the Cultural Arts Committee in South San Francisco, Robert Bridges Jr., will be special guest speaker for the monthly meeting of the South San Francisco Women's Club on Thursday.

Subject of his presentation is the history of this committee, with special emphasis on the coming gala cultural spring season starting February 21, with a three-day art exhibit at West Orange Avenue branch of the library. He announces a special art guild is also being formed under the auspices of this group.

Police Officer Joseph Simpson of the police department, the only officer on the force currently wearing the new controversial clothing, will show the group the new attire which eventually will be the official "uniform" for all South San Francisco policemen.

Officer Simpson is visiting various service groups and clubs to display and familiarize everyone with this new suit and get opinions and impressions, both "pro and con."

The Mardi Gras Ball will be on February 15 in the clubhouse—social hour, 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., with original Creole Supper served at 7 p.m. followed with dancing to live music.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli will place the queen's broke on a lucky winner who will lead the grand march. Mrs. Harry Farros, chairman, announces many door prizes, including a Dorcas Rosenfield original oil painting created especially for this occasion reflecting the joy and glamor of the Mardi Gras, plus a rare orchid plant and champagne, will be given.

Proceeds will go to the club's philanthropic charities.

Section Meetings: Group therapy, February 6, 8 p.m., home of Mrs. Wade Hendrickson. Program-slides India trip shown by Mrs. Arley Tripp.

Garden: February 20, 1 a.m. Mrs. Helen Milly. Potluck luncheon. Program ,"Bring Your Garden Problem."

Bridge: February 26, 10 a.m. Clubhouse. Bring lunch.

Literary: February 27, 8 p.m. Mrs. D. Amato's home book reviewer to be announced.

Special scholarship bridge: February 28, 8 p.m. Contact Mrs. Maynard Hughes for details.

AAUW Sponsors SFS Meeting

The riots and unrest at San Francisco State College have prompted the American Association of University Women to sponsor a program presenting all the viewpoints on the situation.

There will be two meetings, open to the public, on February 6th and February 13 in the Council Chamber at City Hall of South San Francisco.

The faculty of San Francisco State will be represented by Henry McGuckin and Urban Whitaker. Miss Carol Funai and Robert Bridges will represent the students. The police will also be represented by a South San Francisco policeman.

Student Views On Draft

By ALICE REICHERT

(Alice Reichert has been ill. This week's column has been written by a special guest columnist, Rickie Montenegro, who is a freshman journalism student at Terra Nova.)

Tiger Tales, T.N.'s quarterly magazine and the Journalism Class' blood and sweat, is out this week. Features in this issue include Senior views on the Selective Service System, why more and more kids are turning to religion, a student survey on the practice of the pledge to the flag, Linda Amezcua's startling story on the forgotten evils of smoking and drinking, and a JoAnne Gribble special exploding the myth of the legendary "California Girl."

More than half of T.N.'s female student body showed up at school wearing pants after a special joint meeting of the Executive Board, faculty, administration, and Organization of Student Action last January 24 regarding possible changes in school dress for girls. It was decided to have a two-week trial period letting the girls wear pants, after which the new dress code will be determined.

So far, long pants have been a blessing to many a girl on cold days, and also saves the expense of nylons. Will we able to keep this privilege? That is the question.

Breakfast Meeting For Clubwomen

St. Veronica's Women's Club of South San Francisco presented their annual communion mass and breakfast on Sunday after the 9 a.m. mass. Breakfast was prepared and served in the school cafetorium by the St. Veronica's Teen Club.

Speaker for the event was the Rev. Terence Lougran who teaches liturgy at St. Patrick's Seminary.

A group will meet on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school cafetorium in South San Francisco.

The program for the evening will be presented by Mrs. Peter Polidori, who will introduce the cast from the recent variety show, "General Madness," who will do highlights from the show. Proceeds will be presented to the Rev. Paul P. Coleman for the building fund.

Hostesses for the meeting will be members of S. Bernadette's Circle, headed by Mrs. Gary Oliver. Honored guests will be members of the Catholic Family Movement.

Sorority Votes For Band Funds

Members of Tau Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi voted at their regular meeting January 28, unanimously to donate $50 to help send Terra Nova's Jazz Stage Band to the western division of the United States Jazz Band Festival, held annually in Reno, Nev.

Principal Speaks To P-TA

Glenn Forcum, principal at Garden Village School in Daly City, will moderate a panel discussion on discipline and behavior problems February 6 at the regular monthly meeting of Garden Village P-TA members, according to chapter president Mrs. Burt Gamberg.

Two life memberships will also be awarded at the meeting, which begins at 8 p.m. in the school multi-purpose room, Mrs. Gamberg said.

Mrs. Shirley Powell, ways and means chairman, has appointed the following to serve as chairmen for the carnival to be held February 15 at the school from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Ticket: Mrs. Michael Rameriez, Prizes: Mrs. Robert Nordberg, Cake Walk: Mrs. Robert Gaggero, White Elephant: Mrs. Robert Brizuela, Apron Lady: Mrs. John Bologna, Food: Mrs. Peter Alba.

Hot dogs, potato chips, Coka-Cola, coffee, popcorn and pizza from Shakeys Pizza in the Broadmoor Shopping Center will be served. Chairmen for the booths are: Horse Shoe Pitch: Mrs. George Condon, Penny Pitch: Mrs. Raymond Farnsworth.

Bean Bag Toss: Mrs. Verdun Arnaud, Squirt Gun and Floating Candle, Mrs. Steven Cheechov, Fishing: Mrs. Glenn Ullom, Nail Pounding: Mrs. George Salet, Balloon Darts: Mrs. Robert Sturgeon.

Moderator for the Fashion Show will be Mrs. Clarine Lewkowitz.

HERE ARE SOME DECORATING TRICKS FOR YOU

At night, blues tend to appear darker and more intense than in daylight, so test blue fabric and carpet samples in both daylight and artificial light before purchasing.

Unless you are a millionaire, why not use the exquisite prints which are inexpensive copies of the great masters? You are better off with fine lithograph copies than poor originals.

When you don't have the space for a piece of furniture, an ordinary shelf will very often do the trick. A shelf on the small dining room wall can hold your attractive glasses and dishes. Or you can stain a shelf to match, and put it on a wall to hold books, a clock, radio home, you do not need to have an office-looking desk. There are very attracive home desks with a deep letter-filing compartment on one side and a concealed typewriter supporter on the other. You can also get a two-drawer filing cabinet the same height and finish as the desk.

If you have an office a or photos.

For a particularly elegant decorating effect, have some of the matching wall-paper in a room laminated on to your window shades. Wallpaper can also do wonders on to your window shades. Wall-paper can also do wonwhen used to cover the drawer fronts of an odd chest.

Whether you are looking for a trick in decorating or a treat in good quality furniture, it will pay you to visit us.

Alfinito Brothers Host At Rudolfo's

If you'd like to dine in a place that is dressier than a hamburger palace, yet hospitable to children, try Rudolfo's in Palo Alto. The four Alfinito brothers, Art, Harry, George and Rudy, preside over a family-oriented place where steaks reign supreme. Dine at family tables and watch your steak being broiled. Children will love the spaghetti, too.

The Institute of Steel, and Magnovox were two businesses holding conferences last week at the International Inn, South San Francisco. General Manager Doug Young says the restaurant is again off to what is expected to be a record-setting year.

"Ebb Tide" Popular Moonraker Request

Don Kelly is the amiable young man providing organ music Wednesday through Sunday at Nick Gust's fabulous Moonraker restaurant, located at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica. Don, who has a remarkably large repertoire of tunes, says the most asked for song is "Ebb Tide," since the restaurant is situated on a picturesque beach, looking out over a foaming Pacific.

There has been quite a line-up of business functions at South San Francisco's Holiday Inn. Among those meeting on Monday were the Solarnie Chemical Company, Suzanne Fashion Wigs, the South San Francisco Rotary Club and the Fibre Glass Corporation. With the addition of 80 new rooms, Owners Fred and Jerry Rapp are probably thinking of adding more meeting and conference rooms.

Lamp Post Dining Scene Brightens Up

The luncheon scene at the Lamp Post Steak House has really "brightened up." The luncheon and dinner menu consists of New York Steak or Spareribs for just $1.59. Additional luncheon specials have been added: hot pastrami, and ham and cheese sandwiches. If you're pressed for time during the noon hour, the Lamp Post gives you action — and fast. But if you have plenty of time to linger, this is a great place to pull up one of the comfortable Captain's chairs and enjoy a leisurely meal.

Classic gourmet dishes of France and Italy are among those served at lunch and dinner at Doros, which has been named for seven consecutive years by Holiday Magazine as a top San Francisco restaurant.

Don't put off any longer spending an evening in the Villa Hotel Lounge, where the Eastman Trio holds forth nightly to keep your musical spirits high. This talented group is inked in for a limited engagement only.

Introduced from in the audience, entertainer Phil Harris wowed the fans at Finocchio's the other night when he bounded to the stage and made an amusing little speech. He then shook hands all around in the finale of the new Latin Fantasy Revue. Harris is remembered by many San Franciscans, dating back to his first big job as co-leader of the Harris and Lofner (Carol) Band at the St. Francis Hotel. When in the Bay Area, he rarely misses a chance to see the show at Finocchio's, the home of female impersonators.

Take your choice of traditional dining at Emerson Murfee's Villa Chartier, or the exotic at the Lanai. Each restaurant is completely different from beverage to entree, decor to background music.

Park Avenue Tours Plans Reno–Las Vegas Operation

Park Avenue Tours, who make it possible for the many refund packages in the South Lake Tahoe, Nevada area, is eyeing the possibilities of a Las Vegas and Reno package. Barbara and Jerry Barber, who spark the Park Avenue Tours operation, along with General Manager Bob King, will announce the starting dates in the very near future. Look for an all-year-round operation such as their current air and Geyhound packages.

The banquet facilities at the new Dell'Osso's restaurant in San Mateo are capable of handling up to 225 persons. Like all the other features of this outstanding dining establishment, the banquet room is an atmospheric setting, enhancing any kind of special occasion you may be planning. The Japanese American Citizens League, San Mateo Chapter, will hold its installation dinner here tomorrow night. Co-chairmen of the evening will be Kikuo Nakahara and Sakae Yamaguchi.

New restaurant hours at Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House in San Mateo: Sunday through Thursday, 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 7 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Best "bet" of the evening is the "Night Racing Special," featuring a farm-fried chicken spread that is a winner.

The Sirloin Steak Pit in Daly City reports business is as brisk as the weather. The Char-Broiled New York or Top Sirloin Steak, with all the special side dishes, are $1.69 palate pleasers.

Lucien Sabella, operator of A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf, is proud to announce he has added two new items to his ever-expanding menu. They are Scallop Teresa and Filet of Sole Miguel. Each dish has been named after one of Lucien's children, a custom that has been part of the A. Sabella tradition for years.

Rain hasn't dampened the spirit of Night Harness Racing fans at Bay Meadows. In fact, attendance on Saturday afternoon was the meet's best; ditto, the wagering.

Scotty Campbell's For 'Caruso Cocktail Hour'

It was recently mentioned in Bright Lights that Mary Lou Francis, antiques collector and co-owner of Scotty Campbell's, along with Theresa and Bud Urban, had added two phonographs and a couple of Victor recordings of Enrico Caruso (1904 vintage) to the array of curio items on display at this Redwood City restaurant, much to the nostalgic joy of numerous patrons sipping cocktails in the lounge. It was also suggested that you let your Bright Lighter know if there were any more Caruso records available. Thanks to Kay Weis, a "Bright Lights" reader, and employee of Bay Meadows Race Track, this office is now in possession of 13 Caruso recordings, one autographed Lily Pons record, one John McCormack and a couple of the great voice of Amelita Galli-Curci. This will come as a surprise to Mary Lou, but this Scribe is going to suggest that Scotty Campbell's feature a "Caruso Cocktail Hour," during which old records can be played. If you're in accord, tell Mary Lou.

Fiesta Tamale Pie

GOOD MORNING, good cooks.

Didn't you think that once you got through January's rush you would have lots of free time to do the things you wanted to do? Such as read, watch TV, visit with your friends and possibly learn to knit?

Or even do the things you had to do. Such as wash the walls, clean the ovens, re-hem the drapes or even go out into the yard and yank up some of those healthy weeds that the rain brought leaping out of the lawn?

What happened? You were drafted to take over the Cub Scout meetings, you found that you had signed up for three committees for the church festival and your daughter volunteered your services to make all the costumes for the class play. What larks!

While you are rushing around like mad trying to do all these fun things, who's getting dinner? Silly question. Try another question, what are you having for dinner? You don't know? How about this tamale pie?

FIESTA TAMALE PIE

- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ pound pork sausage
- 1 large can tomatoes, (No. 2½)
- 1 can whole kernel corn
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 24 pitted ripe olives
- 1 cup cornmeal
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1½ cups grated American cheese

Heat the three tablespoons oil in frying pan and saute the minced onion and garlic until golden. Add the pound of ground beef and the one-half pound sausage and brown. In a saucepan combine the one can tomatoes with the can of corn and the two teaspoons salt and chile powder, simmer for 20 minutes. Let this mixture cool and then combine with the cooked meat.

Pour into a shallow casserole 10x13-inches, and press the 24 olives into the meat mixture. (You may use more olives if you wish.)

Combine the one cup cornmeal with the one cup milk, two well-beaten eggs and spread, with a spoon, over the filling. Sprinkle the one and one-half cups grated cheese over the top and bake in 350-degree oven about an hour, or until cornmeal is baked.

You can prepare the meat mixture early in the day and just add the cornmeal before baking. This batter is very thin but it bakes into a thick crusty topping.

This is a generous casserole, could serve 8, depending on appetites.

If you are really in a rush and want to fix a dinner that tastes and looks delicious, try this chicken dish that Mrs. Marily Bruke who lives at 72 Oakmont Drive here in Daly City serves.

CHICKEN L'ORANGE

- 1 frying chicken
- salt and pepper
- 1 can frozen orange juice

Cut the chicken into serving pieces, sprinkle with salt and pepper and arrange in a shallow baking dish, which has been lightly greased. Pour the concentrated orange juice over the chicken and bake in a 350-degree oven for an hour, or until the chicken is brown and nicely glazed.

During the last 15 minutes cooking time turn the chicken pieces over and sort of stir them around in the orange juice so they will be well coated.

Along with this chicken you could serve buttered rice, or if you want to be a little more fancy, try this noodle casserole.

CREAMED NOODLES

- 1 12-ounce package noodles
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 cup cream style cottage cheese
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- A dash of pepper
- ¼ cup chopped chives

Prepare the noodles according to the directions on the package. Drain and combine with the one cup each sour cream and cottage cheese, three-fourths teaspoon salt, dash of pepper and one-fourth cup chopped chives. Pour into a lightly buttered casserole and bake in 350-degree oven for about 30 minutes or until casserole is hot and bubbly. Serves 6.

Speaking of dishes that are easy to prepare, this cake is delicious and couldn't be easier to fix. Mrs. Barbara Thompson who lives at 54 Westfield Avenue in Daly City, served this at a luncheon recently and it's a gem.

FRUIT CRISP

- 2 cans fruit and liquid (No. 202 size can)
- 1 package yellow cake mix
- ¼ lb. butter
- ½ cup chopped almonds

Pour the fruit and liquid into a greased oblong baking pan. (Barbara used pineapple for her cake, but assures me that apricots or peaches make an equally delicious cake.) Sprinkle the one-half cup chopped almonds over the fruit. Top with the dry cake mix and slice the butter over the top of the cake mix.

Bake 40 to 45 minutes in 350-degree oven, or until top is brown. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream.

Plan to Save Bay Given to Governor

A plan for San Francisco Bay, designed to provide region-wide economic benefits through shoreline development and to protect the Bay from unnecessary filling, has been submitted to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the California Legislature.

The Bay plan was prepared over the past three years by the 27-member San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Governor Reagan said in his "state of the State" message on January 7 that he would seek legislation to continue the work of the commission.

The Bay plan begins with a note of urgency. In a letter of transmittal, BCDC chairman Melvin B. Lane, executive vice president of Sunset magazine, Menlo Park, explained that the BCDC will go out of existence next fall, 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

"We therefore respectfully recommend," he wrote, "that legislation be passed during the 1969 session, as proposed in this plan, so that there will be no lapse in the efforts begun by the State in 1965 to protect and enhance San Francisco Bay."

Lane referred to the fact that the 1965 McAteer-Petris Act (named for the late Senator Eugene McAteer of San Francisco and Senator Nicholas Petris of Oakland) created the BCDC as a temporary State agency.

The BCDC was directed to prepare a plan for the Bay and also to control all Bay filling and dredging until late in 1969.

Lane said the BCDC plan is, as required by the McAteer-Petris Act, "a comprehensive and enforceable plan for the conservation of the water of San Francisco Bay and the development of its shoreline."

"San Francisco Bay is an irreplaceable gift of nature that man can either abuse and ultimately destroy — or improve and protect for future generations," said the plan report.

The Bay and its shoreline can be imfroved to provide more public benefits, said the plan. For example, the Bay can be enhanced as a great world port. Many job-producing industries can be developed around its shores. And new parks, marinas, beaches, and fishing piers, can provide close-to-home recreation for the Bay Area's growing population.

But at the same time, said the plan, the Bay must be protected from "needless and gradual destruction" through filling. "The Bay should no longer be treated as ordinary real estate, available to be filled with sand or dirt to create new land. Rather, the Bay should be regarded as the most valuable nature asset of the entire Bay region, a body of water that benefits not only the residents of the Bay Area but of all California and indeed the nation."

The plan points out that the large water surface of the Bay, the shallow areas of the Bay, and the large volume of water in the Bay are all important in helping to prevent water pollution, in nourishing fish and wildlife, and in helping to combat smog in the Bay Area.

China Puzzle To Be Debated

Many important issues concerning Mainland China and the United States foreign policies will be discussed at the February units of the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County. "The China Puzzle," a slide film, will start the morning meeting. The film covers China's past and China as she is today. Consensus will be taken from members. Guests are always welcomed and are urged to join in discussions.

The Daly Ciyt unit met Tuesday at the home of the unit chairman Mrs. Raymond Milton, 98 Westmeer Avenue.

The Pacifica Unit meets today at the Holy Cross Lutheran, Seville Drive, Pcifica, at 10 a.m. until 12. Baby-sitter is provided at the church.

The South San Francisco-San Bruno unit meets Thursday February 6, at the home of Mrs. Daniel Pass, 3791 Callan Blvd., So. San Francisco, 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. Babysitting is provided at the home of Mrs. James Knotek, 2510 Tera Lane, S.S.F.

D.C. Station Is Robbed

Barbatta's Shell service station at 463 Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City was robbed of $70, at last week, police reported.

Daniel Anderson, 19-year-old service station attendant, said a gold four-door car with three occupants drove into the station and one of the suspects grabbed the cash box when the attendant opened it.

They then fled.

Police said the suspects included a white man, a Negro male and a white woman.

Watts Heads Speech Group

Roger Watts, a Daly City resident, was recently elected president of the Millbrae Toastmasters Club. Also elected to office were Jim Susoeff (educational vice president), Joe Beaver (administrative vice president), pres Mendell (secretary), John Peterson (treasurer), and Bob Lynds (sergeant-at-arms).

The new officers will be installed at a Ladies' Night dinner in February.

The Millbrae Toastmasters meet every Monday night at Uncle John's Pancake House, El Camino and Ludeman Lane, from 7:00-9:00 p.m. Guest are always welcome at any meeting.

SSF Kids 'Dig' Their Teacher

By WILL E. THOMAS

Bob Bellino is a young, slender South San Francisco teacher whose rapport with his fifth graders at Los Cerritos School is not confined to the classroom, because he's turned his own hobby—motorcycle racing — into a sort of educational program in which both teacher and pupils learn.

Bellino, who was recognized by other races two summers ago as the unofficial "state champion" in a novice racing division, has been self-cast into the cycling teacher role since 1965.

More often than not, his students will introduce him not as "My teacher," but, rather, with "He's a motorcycle racer."

Why not? These youngsters are close to Bellino's racing scene. Two or three of them go with teacher to every race, and Bellino hopes to obtain better transportation soon, so more of them can go.

You spot his pupils easily. They're the ones wearing T-shirts that read, "My Teacher Rides a Triumph."

The T-shirts, he says, come with individual classroom achievement, and it's likely all the boys, at least, will have earned one by the end of the school term.

"I kinda hated to do it like that," Bellino explains, acknowledging the method to be one of reward and punishment.

"We have it in everything," he points out. "We like to be rewarded; we don't like to be punished, so we do the things we like to be rewarded for."

In Bellino's classroom, the "gold stars" are awarded usually for achievement or effort on tests and assignments.

"It doesn't have to be anything difficult," he asserts. "As long as they do their work and do it well, they get rewarded."

Ten stars get you a T-shirt, except for spelling, in which a perfect score—six stars—has it for you.

One would suppose ordinarily that a day-long session with a pack of fifth-graders would be enough. But Bellino says, "I just enjoy being with them; working with them, and I hope that I can show some kind of good example in some way better them in doing this."

They learn more about him. Bellino in turn gets to know them.

And both get to know motorcycle racing better—the youngsters as enthused spectators somewhat closer to the pits than the average youngster; Bellino as an eager participant trying to get in enough practice and enough racing to earn the necessary points to advance in the sport.

Bellino explains it's not just for the sake of cycle racing that he takes his charges to the track.

Hopefully, he says, the students will obtain a broader scope by "being around, going places and doing things."

Someday he wants to take them to other activities, other places in this same campaign to enlighten.

The relationship "gives us something in common," he claims: "a common ground to start on."

Perhaps unlike many other youngsters, Bellino's students have something "to relate to," even though Bellino describes himself as an "ordinary" teacher without "any super programs going."

Their involvement in Bellino's hobby is a way, he figures, they can "relate to the teacher."

Though he's only been in South San Francisco Unified School District one year, he's been out west since 1964.

That was the year he got out of college, bought his first motorcycle and left Bethseda, Md., bound for California aboard the "500 BSA."

Bellino intended to "take a while" coming out but, after only a few days he got to hurrying it up.

"I kinda wanted to get out here and get a job," he recalls.

He spent the nights of his traveling period at campgrounds, throwing out his sleeping bag next to sleek, well equipped campers.

It cost him $27 for gas and oil on the trip that led him to a state that offered him no immediate job in teaching.

"I wanted to go to a small town, where there was ranching and stuff," Bellino says, "because this was one of my big desires, to get a ranch."

However, he soon learned that the money in those areas was not as "good" as he could earn in the city.

A friend broke the hesitation barrier and decided to try a race and Bellino remembers, "I figured, well, if he can do it, I can do it."

"Right then," he asserts, "I decided this was something I wanted to become pretty good at."

Apparently he has become "pretty good." After winning the race that gave him the unofficial novice title (it isn't really a title: most racers just consider it such), Bellino jumped up into the amateur sportsman class and placed second — "by about this much," he gestured with both hands.

He thinks he could become "expert" — the top division — if he were able to take the time to practice. With summer school and bike shop work he didn't have time to ride last summer — "to do what I was working for," as Bellino puts it.

He moved to the Bay Area last year. Not because he had found the country no longer held his interest, or because "cow trailing" became uninterestiig.

It boils down instead to a greater interest in racing.

He found himself traveling to-and-from Burney's quiet, open country to the Bay Area every weekend. A thousand miles a weekend was not unusual. But he got to more races, featuring more competition, in such places as Salinas, the Cow Palace and other tracks.

And he found himself a following.

Schools in Trouble

(Frank LaPierre is ill. Writing his column this week is Jim Grealish. — Editor.)

No subject has been more in the news during the past year than our schools. Every other topic has been given second billing in the newspapers, on television and on radio. Student riots and demonstrations haven't been the only phases of school activities that have received attention.

Locally, tax rates, realignment of school boundaries, etc. have resulted in protest meetings, formation of citizens' committees and the signing of petitions. Many interested citizens became concerned because the subject matter involved had hit close to home. This was the point that caused them to take action. A man once said when asked if he knew the difference between a recession and a depression "a recession is when your neighbor is out of work, a depression is when you are out of work."

Our schools and how they are administered is a subject close to home for every citizen either by having a student in the family or by payment of taxes. (Do you know how much of your tax dollar goes to our school districts?)

The time has now come for concerned citizens to "get involved." There are three seats on the Jefferson Elementary School District Board and three on the High School District Board to be filled in the coming election.

When the filing deadline arrives February 20, it will be very clear how many citizens are really interested in how our schools are administered.

One of Peninsula industrialist David Packard's first assignments as Deputy Secretary of Defense is to head a Pentagon study of the Pueblo case. Which brings to mind a question of why columnists and commentators are making such a tremendous effort to "read something into" the Board of Inquiry now in session in Coronado. Regardless of the public interest and coverage of the case, the normal steps of establishing the facts must be followed. The duty of the members of the Board of Inquiry is to hear all the testimony of the witnesses and then make a recommendation. A Court of Inquiry is a fact-finding body — it is not a Court-Martial. Witnesses at a Court of Inquiry are not on trial. Regardless of the fact that millions of words have been spoken and written about the case over the past year, when the court convened, the members started with a clean slate to develop all of the possible evidence upon which to make a logical decision. The members will hear every possible source of information. When the hearing is completed and all the information is known, a recommendation will be made. A Court of Inquiry cannot even prefer charges.

While the Navy is heavily endowed with tradition, and proudly so, it is not strangled by it and the outcome of the Court of Inquiry will bring a recommendation from the members, the same procedure that would have been followed with a commanding officer whose ship had run aground or had been involved in a collision.

Should a regional government law be approved by the legislature this year, how would San Mateo County fare in representation on the 36-member Board? On the basis of current population estimates, county representation could be five for San Francisco and four for San Mateo with the possibility of another member to straddle the northern part of San Mateo County and the southern end of San Francisco County. The major power that a board would acquire immediately would be the function of reviewing applications by local governments for federal grants to insure that these grants confirm to regional planning. Under the present organizational structure of nine counties, 93 cities and 600 special districts, vital decisions affecting the Bay Area are now being made in Sacramento or Washington in which people vitally affected, by living in an adjacent city, have no voice.

BARO (Bay Area Regional Organization) in some form looks like a must.

Revue Grabs Where Its Funny

The Committee Revue has taken an about-face. And with no loss of success.

The show that opened last week at 622 Broadway, San Francisco, is completely non-political, and for very good reason. The company feels that it is impossible to satirize that which is already it is impossible to satirize that which is already laughable i.e., elections, politics, aspects of the Vietnam involvement, and those tribulations of everyday living that make headline news. So what's left except to show people as they really are; funny, vulnerable, inconsistent, complicated and illogical. And in the hands of these seven (soon to be six) talented performers, the pathos and inherent humor of the everyman is brought into comic focus.

Not all of the skits work smoothly. It might be (as it should be for a true barometer of timing) that they'll trim and speed certain routines according to the reaction of a full house. What seems funny in the writing and rehearsing doesn't always have the succinct appeal once its tried before an audience of tired businessmen and-or drinking patrons.

BUT THE SHARPNESS, THE INCISIVE JAB AT HUMAN FOIBLES is back to what the original company won us with six years ago. They make their point in gaining our introspective laughter, because they show us ourselves (and themselves too) without being superior or psychotic about it. And yet, the most polished of their "Title 1" show is a psychodrama or narcissism where Julie Payne and Ruth Silveira break through the mirror of their self-love and find they're physcially bound by the reflected image. It's their most serious exercise and best prepared.

Carol Androsky will be as big a loss (next week) as she is an addition to the group. An actress with the emotional depth for serious, as well as comic theater, she's well remembered for her seasons with the Stanford Repertory Company. The very tall, angular, homely woman has enormous appeal in those skits calling for put-on, pathos and paranoia.

There's plenty of all three in this current show. Sex education, nudity, racism, and ineptitude get shot at by the three girls and their straightmen, Everett Cornell, Ed Greenberg, Bruce Mackey and Dan Barrows.

THE ONLY SIMILARITY to earlier shows is the all-time favorite, "Junque Symphony" in which all the company plays a sound-maker (Kleenex box, water pipe, paper bag, balloon, nails on a blackboard, empty bottles pages torn out of a book, etc., etc.). With incredible attention to maestro William Mathieu, their piano accompanist throughout the rest of the show, they make enough multiple tone sounds to create a subliminal musical composition. But it's still a visual, rather than an audible amusement.

Skits need cutting, and yet my personal favorite is a lengthy one between Greenberg as a blind date and Miss Silveira who talks to herself, even in the presence of other people. It's long but it's good.

One should view "The Committee Revue" with a natural affection, not a "let's see you make me laugh" attitude. They have the essence of satire within their reach and those elements should be nurtured and given encouragement by each new audience. The group blossoms with approbation.

The show is soft-sell and I prefer it to being hit over the head with a dramatized fact that might be my own personal daytime crusade. Their new approach to topicality grabs where it's still funny. I suspect that's how to make the points that matter.

Women's Magazines

Women's magazines constitute a strange, strange land where men are pictured in the illustrations as shadows behind the fashion models; in the editorials and features as irksome creatures who must be controlled with a weapon called love.

Instructions on the use of this weapon appear in an article, "True Love Plus Shrewd Love Equal 99 Per Cent Success," by Shirley Lord in the latest Harper's Bazaar.

"True love," Miss Lord says, "along with true blue, blue moon and blue cheese now has an indigestible flavor . . . Add shrewd love and you've added gilt to the gingerbread, salt to egg, spice to the whole main course." True love she writes to women is "massaging his left vertebra after a heavy night at the backgammon board" but shrewd love is "taking your rings off first." True love is "allowing him to tell you how to drive" but shrewd love is "taking elaborate notice, if he is right."

True love is "always being home when he needs you;" shrewd love is "making sure he needs you at home." True love is "allowing him to tell you anything;" shrewd love is "letting him think he had the last word." True love is "not telling tales;" shrewd love is "not telling tales unless they're about people he knows."

In the chart that constitutes most of Miss Lord's article there are thirty-eight more directions in the use of shrewd love to control men — creatures that an unknown writer who must have been a woman called "dull, unpitied miscreants, wedded to noise, to misery and want." (She must have been an unwedded lady, for every wife knows, with the Ancient Romans, "a husband a blessing is, he can't be curst.")

Miss Lord's article is something to notice, certainly not among the best things to appear in a magazine that came to life 102 years ago as "a repository of fashion, pleasure and instruction and was once known as "the most rapid success ever known in journalism."

Harpers Bazaar is a magazine dedicated to fashions, cookery, houses and babies — but mostly fashions. Among the articles that have appeared on its pages are Thomas Wentworth Higginson's, "Women and Men;" William Dean Howell's, "Heroines of Fiction"; works by Wilkie Collins, Mary E. Wilkins, John Kendrick Banks, Mildred Cram and many others whose work has become part of American literature.

Bargain Guides

The new "Guides to Honest Bargains" has been published to aid the customer to better understand the complicated maze of advertising standards and to also provide him with the information on which to make a meaningful choice of a product. The good advertiser will live within the limitations of these rules. Some stores have even tighter taboos on a number of points. The bad advertiser who uses phony comparative prices will violate these rules:

1. Regular: Our Regular: Usually:
   A temporary markdown from the store's regular price. Goods return to regular price at expiration of offer.
2. Formerly: Was: Were:
   A permanent markdown from the store's own price in recent course of business.
3. Originally:
   A permanent markdown from the store's original price, not necessarily recent. Any intermediate markdown, if taken, should be shown as, originally $10, was $7.50, now $5.
4. Suggested List: Manufacturer's List: Suggested Retail: Preticketed:
   Used only if it is actually the store's regular selling price, or is the price at which the merchandise is generally sold in the stores own trade area.
5. Comparable Value: Compare at:
   Comparable items must be of like grade and quality and must generally be available in the trading area at the stated price.
6. Save $15: Save 50 per cent:
   Savings from the store's own selling price.
7. Save up to .....
   The minimun and maximum savings should be stated when a range of savings is advertised—e.g.—Save 10 per cent to 40 per cent.
8. Seconds, imperfects and irregulars:
   Advertising should specify whenever other than perfect goods offered. Price comparisons should show that imperfects are being compared to the price if perfect, when such is the case.
9. Free Offers: 2 for 1 sales:
   All terms and conditions of sale must be plainly disclosed. The regular price may not be increased, the quality or quantity of the article may not be decreased in order to offer the free item.

Crimefighter

The new attorney general, John N. Mitchell, promises to carry out a "vigorous" law-enforcement policy, fulfilling a campaign pledge of President Nixon.

The head of federal law enforcement cannot do much about muggings, holdups, burglaries and similar atrocities against the person or his home, except in so far as the attorney general can help upgrade local police work through the new Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

But it is reassuring that the attorney general, who is a symbol of law enforcement, has promised to fight crime on all fronts. The attorney general is, first of all, a prosecutor.

It is also reassuring to know that Mitchell wouldn't hesitate to deny bail to likely recidivists awaiting trial, would recommend against granting parade permits to activists like those who disrupted the inaugural parade, and will make use of wiretapping, a foremost tool in combating interstate racketeering.

In the public mind, Mitchell, who also is not opposed to capital punishment, could prove to be an effective counter to the U.S. Supreme Court and its outpouring of decisions that protect the lawbreaker at the expense of society's right to protect itself.

Fearless Attack On Karate Men

(Presenting: Our new traditional semi-annual—(at least)—attack on Karate, ironic pun intended.)

SCENE: Dark Alley

CHARACTERS: Tricky Dick and Maxie.

MAXIE: Hey, Tricky Dick, did you get your piece, baby?

TRICKY: Yeh man, here it is (he shows Maxie his right hand, held open.)

MAXIE: No, no man, I mean this (he shows Tricky a Colt .45 automatic)

TRICKY: Yeh, here it is (showing open hand again). My open hand. Open hand, baby, that's what Karate means.

MAXIE: Karate? You min-mind! I told you we need a heater for this job. You see too many movies. This Karate stuff's okey for Sean Connery to smack fat Chinamen around with, but it takes you 50 whacks to chop a cat down with that stuff. One shot from this (indicating .45) does it. And besides, your hand's not even calloused.

TRICKY: Listen, man, that 007 stuff's show biz Karate. The real stuff would run Actor's Equity out of employes by Valentine's Day. That hard hand stuff, that's showmanship Karate, the kind they call brutalized Karate. The kind I learned, the subtle kind, the class kind, you can do it with a Lux girl's hands.

MAXIE: So okey, man, what's the advantage? You can't even eliminate a guy unless he's within arm's length.

TRICKY: But the advantages outweigh that factor, baby. Put that gun in your shoulder holster, Maxie (Maxie does it). See? Look at that bulge. A racist pig could spot it a block away. I could shake hands with the fuzz and they wouldn't even know they were holding my weapon. They'd think I was being cool with them. How long did it take you to be a crack shot, Maxie? Years on the target range, right? I learned how to split a man's voice box open in three months. And you ought to see what I can do to a groin! For true, now, I'm nothing fancy, yet. I haven't learned to puncture a man's heart, for instance, by ramming my forefinger through his rib cage, or how to gouge both eyes out of their sockets with one swift movement, but I get the job done and it only took me four or five nights a week in a gym for a few months. And about getting close to a guy. Sirhan had to, too, didn't he?

Another thing, Maxie, how did you pick up your piece?

MAXIE: It wasn't easy, man. First I had to get the word to Georgie that I needed a clean piece, then he had to see Frankie, and then it took a few more days to — of course there was the old man we had to pay off. . . .

TRICKY: Big deal you went through, right? And then if you get picked up with it on you, even though it's clean, there goes the parole, right? What are they gonna do with me, chop my hands off? And here's another thing. The fuzz can't win. You yell Karate at them, and right away they know you're dangerous but unarmed, and that puts them on the spot. If they shoot, they're firing on an unarmed man. They use night sticks, it's brutality. They use dogs, they're no better than Mississippi sheriffs. So they gotta use their hands, and then, only, supposedly, to subdue or restrain, not to injure. While they're considering all of this, you're either getting away or beating the hell out of them, or both.

MAXIE: Sounds alright, Tricky, but I don't think I could afford a thing like that. It musta cost you a fortune.

TRICKY: A fortune? I sold my shotgun and paid for the whole course.

MAXIE: You musta had some good contacts to get in on a deal like that.

TRICKY: I didn't know anybody. The day after I'm released from Q I'm walking down Market Street, minding my own business, and I pass a very colorful store front with signs all over it in big red and yellow letters, "Get in condition, learn self-defense, self-discipline, self-control, gain confidence, protect yourself from criminals, bullies, muggers and perverts," but it don't interest me because I figure why would I have to protect myself from my own friends. Then out of the corner of my eye at the bottom of the sign in small black letters I see the word, "Kill!" Now, I figure that's my thing, so I walk in.

There's a little Japanese guy dressed in white pajamas like he's about to commit hari-kari, and he bows and smiles when I approach him, so I throw a few Jap phrases at him I learned in the army, like, "VO and seven," "Do you like me honey," "How much," stuff like that, and he says, "Oh, so, I'm surprised you speak my language," and I say yeh, I learned it in the Orient when my mind was clouded and you may also be surprised when I tell you that I'm an ex-con and I'd like to learn this stuff but if I have to register with the fuzz or anything like that you better let me know right now and save me the trouble of listening to your sales talk. He says, "What you mean, baby, we swing here. Fuzz have no control. We are sportsmen. We bow to each other and have tournament and give trophies to prove."

"Of course," he says, "we screen new members very carefully. We don't want hot-heads here."

So I ask him how they screen and he says, "Sign up and pay first and I tell you." So I pay.

MAXIE: How are you screened?

TRICKY: If you have a BankAmericard you're in.

MAXIE: What I don't understand is, I've always heard that Karate was like a religion, man, and you had to learn Zen and read up on the philosophy of the thing and all that jive before they even consider you as a pupil.

TRICKY: Maxie, babe, that's only in the Orient, where the squares invented the stuff. The big selling point in the studio where I learned it is they they do away with all that sutff. They get down to the nitty-gritty right away. You know, the maiming and killing part. They call it free exercise.

MAXIE: Say, the cat who taught you must be great. Must have had years of experience.

TRICKY: Hell no. A year ago he was a weight lifter and he drifted in, just like I did.

MAXIE: I got to admit it sounds like a good deal.

TRICKY: Hey, I got a great idea. Why don't you bring your kid in. This place gives great kiddie rates. Maxie Jr. could learn to crack some little devil's collarbone at only pennies. It would be a wonderful thing for you two to do together. In fact, if you can get your old lady to come in, they give family rates. The family that learns to kill together, Maxie, sticks together.

MAXIE: Yeh. They couldn't rat on each other.

TRICKY: Right Maxie, baby.

MAXIE: It sounds good, Tricky, but after this job, you know, me and the old lady and the kid may be on the run for awhile, so I really won't have time. . . .

TRICKY: Hell, don't let that worry you. Borrow the kid's library card. You can pick up a book on Karate in any neighborhood library that can at least teach you the basic blows. They've even got diagrams of all the most vulnerable spots on the body. You could practice on the road and be that much ahead when you hire your first pro.

MAXIE: I'll do that, Tricky, I'll do that. Hey, man, where you hurrying off to?

TRICKY: I just remember. I'm on the parish's Eastern-culture study group and I'm giving an exhibition tonight at the Father-Son banquet.

Former DC Star Is Raider Coach

By RON REID
Post Sports Writer

The Oakland Raiders, a pro football team with more talent for surprising people than Jackie Kennedy, plan to unleash another stunner in the near future by naming John Madden, 32, as their new head coach, The Post learned this week.

A Raider front office official who preferred to remain anonymous disclosed that Madden, the club's linebacker coach whose football career began in Daly City's Jefferson High School, would land the job surprisingly vacated by John Rauch — who quit to take over as head man of the Buffalo Bills earlier this month.

Since the Oakland offense is one of the most complex in professional football and therefore a source of potential trouble for any newcomer, the selection of a new head coach from within the organization is not surprising.

Madden, however, has rated no better than a "sleeper" in the speculation as to who would inherit the post.

Most observers figured that the job would be awarded to Ollie Spencer, the team's offensive line coach and oldest Oakland aide in point of service. Spencer has been with the East Bay AFL club since 1962 while Madden came to the Raiders from San Diego State two years ago.

It is a logical deduction that Madden is the personal choice of Al Davis, the Raiders' managing general partner who is one of the most brainy, shrewd, and demanding executives in the game. He is also one of the most difficult to work for — as Rauch discovered during his three years as head man of the team.

Persistent allegations that the Raiders' success, which included the AFL Championship in 1967, was more the product of Davis' administrative genius than Rauch's coaching talent — along with charges of Davis' interference — sent Rauch shuffling off to Buffalo and a four-year contract.

Rauch had told Bills' owner Ralph Wilson that he planned to leave the Raiders at the end of the 1968 season whether he hooked on with another club or not; the implication being that he was resentful of Davis, who preceded him as coach.

With but two season's tenure in the professional game, Madden is not likely to bristle at Davis' "suggestions" nor long argue any moves his boss may decide to carry out. The club that has borne Davis' personal stamp since he directed it from a 1-13 record in 1962 to a 10-4 mark the following season is now unquestionably Davis' team, if there was any doubt on the matter in seasons past.

It should be pointed out that for all his firm-handed methods, Davis is way ahead of the game and his peers when it comes to trades, cuts, the draft, and other intricacies of professional football.

With the possible exception of Vince Lombardi, no one in professional sport can match Davis' phenomenal success in turning a loser into a winner over so short a time span.

Madden, who played for Joe McGrath as a prep at Jefferson, was an All-Conference tackle at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. His pro playing career with the Philadelphia Eagles was cut short by a knee injury.

He coached at Allen Hancock Junior College, two years as an assistant and one year as head coach, before joining Don Coryell at San Diego State in 1964.

Madden and his wife, Virginia, are the parents of two sons, Mike, 4 and Joe, 2.

Mid-Peninsula League Tightest Contest Ever

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Sports Writer

There has never been a tighter, more exciting or more even race for the varsity basketball championship of the Mid-Peninsula League than the one now prevailing.

Last week's games completed the first half of the league's 12-round schedule and, with six games per team left to be played, one slim game separates the top four schools.

Even the league's most dedicated masochists couldn't ask for more.

And Friday night's contests were a perfect example of the kind of basketball that has made the 1969 season the wildest ever.

Aragon's Dons became the sole possessor of first place by beating Capuchino, 64-56, in San Bruno and Hillsdale, the circuit's defending champion, was upset by Mills, 55-48, in Millbrae.

The losses dropped Hillsdale and Cap into a second-place tie with Burlingame. All three teams have 4-2 marks. Aragon is now 5-1 and, though not home free by any stretch of the imaginaiton, somewhat in the driver's seat since the remaining schedule favors the Dons.

In the night's final game, San Mateo whipped Crestmoor, 73-64.

Aragon, which may have the best remaining schedule of the top four clubs, never trailed last night and wrapped up the victory with a bundle of game-ending free throws by Bill Lewis, Wayne Pearson and Bob Burmeister.

But it wasn't easy. Not by any means.

Capuchino, a smaller but more mobile squad, pressed and tried to fast break the Dons into mistakes and did so. But their own inability to hit from the outside, a ploy which the 'Tangs had used with great success prior to this game, killed them.

Cap forced the Dons into a total of 24 ball control miscues but could convert them only rarely.

Methodical and deliberate, Aragon established its biggest lead of the test at the end of the third period, 43-33, and then had to hold off the Cappers in the final quarter.

Cap closed to 59-56 with 1:04 remaining on a follow shot by Vince Repetto but Pearson's foul toss with 36 seconds to play and two more by Burmeister with 31 to go sealed Coach Jimmy Johnson's doom.

Diaz, whose club must play Hillsdale on Wednesday afternoon at Hillsdale, laughed and shook his head when asked about the relative strength of the league: "This is the toughest the league has ever been. I've never seen it so good top to bottom. It's a real compliment to the students and the schools."

He added that, "There just aren't any breathers on the whole schedule."

Hillsdale proved that remark to be true last night.

John Schilling's 13 points and 11 rebounds were highlights for the Vikes. John Cowan added 14 points and Geof Kuchlenz 13 more.

Leading point-maker for the evening was Hillsdale's Gary Texley who bagged 22.

In the evening's third tussle, San Mateo had to withstand a brilliant second half rally by Crestmoor last-place and winless Falcons. Down by 20 points in the third period, the San Bruno club made up 21 points on the Bearcats and took the lead, 58-57, with about five minutes to play.

But Steve Bissett and Calvin Swann got the 'Cats out of that jam and the Mateans emerged with their second victory of the league season.

Prime movers for Crestmoor were Tom Dinsmore and Ralph Bingham who combined for 39 points between them.

Diaz, whose club must play 45 points and 37 rebounds from his front line composed of Jim Romey, Mark Murphy and big Wayne Pearson. The latter tried 11 shots from the floor and hit on seven of them.

EASY TUNEUP

South S.F. Takes Fifth NPL Triumph

Both Westmoor and South San Francisco High Schools sharpened, or dulled, their offenses last week in preparation for their first place clash this afternoon in Daly City.

Both teams played winless Half Moon Bay and came away with easy wins. With Tony Giammona's Rams taking Friday off, the defending champion Warriors romped to their fifth win with an 83-43 victory over the cougars.

"I'm not exactly sure how a game like this will affect our play Wenesday," Warrior coach Bill Purcell said. "Sometimes it's better to play a little tougher game just before a must-win game but, then, Westmoor is in the same boat."

Fourteen players scored for the winners with centers Steve Venters, 11 points, and mid-season rookie Andy Alexander, 10, getting the only double figures. Alexander, tabbed as Venters' replacement next season, also blocked three shouts and was the leading rebounder in playing just half the game.

Chuck Sorts' lads were led by guard Jim Emery with nine.

Basketball Loop Rolling

The 1969 addition of the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department's, Adult Basketball League, got off to a fine start with Folger Metals on top of the standings after two weeks of play. Scores are as follows: Second, Stoller and Sons; Third D&L Janitorial, Fourth Dial Glass; Fifth, Sorethumbs; Sixth, Manor Barber Shop and Seventh, Sears.

Dial Glass made their first appearance of the year, a very powerful one by overpowering Sears 74-29. The scoring punch for Dial Glass was provided by Rick Pick, Hamlay, and Dagenais with 21, 17 and 17 points respectively. Silva pumped in 16 points to lead the losers attack.

Folger Metals rambled past Manor Barber Shop 59-32 for their first league win.

School Housing Committee Formed

The Laguna Salada Board of School Trustees announced this week that the Laguna Salada Union School District will open its doors to approximately 9,400 school children in grades kindergarten through 8 in 15 school buildings next year.

"The housing of these children is a serious problem which requires much advance planning," Dist. Supt. Fred Lucas said, and "the district desires to establish permanent attendance areas. Each year substantial increases in enrollment due to new construction, population shifts within the district and large numbers of families moving in and out of the district make the establishment of permanent attendance areas impossible."

The Board of Trustees feels it very important that parents un-

Representatives from 20 population areas have agreed to serve on committee, the superintendent said.

"Anyone else interested may also serve on this committee by calling the school district office, 359-1641, Extension 24, Mrs. Winston."

The first meeting of the committee will be held at 8 p.m., February 10, in the conference room of the Administration building. At this orientation meeting, the committee will decide on the dates for future meetings, Lucas said.

All meetings are open to the public, and interested parents are urged to attend and express opinions. "If you are unable to attend the meetings, you may contact the representative in your area or telephone the above number for information regarding the progress of this committee. Questions and comments are welcomed," he said.

derstand that housing of pupils depends upon the location of new subdivisions, facilities available, and areas of turnover, Lucas said. "For this reason, each year the board appoints citizens from the various areas of the district to work with the administrators on a Pupil Housing Committee."

"This committee has two purposes: To review and evaluate housing policies and guidelines, and to recommend to the school board changes which the committee considers to be desirable; and to apply, after board approval, these policies and guidelines in developing recommendations for the housing of elementary school children in schools for the next school year."

Lucas announced that James Brien, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, and John Munt, assistant superintendent in charge of business services, will serve as consultants to the Housing Committee.

Tax Rebate Cards in Mail February 25

Two cards which will permit San Mateo County property owners to claim $70 in tax relief along with a $750 exemption they voted themselves at the last November election are scheduled to be in the mail by February 25, County Assessor Jack Estes said.

Tax Collector Ross Conti would like citizens to know that he has nothing to do with processing of claims under Proposition 1A. His office has been deluged with calls and inquiries regarding the matter in recent weeks.

"They figure since this is the place they send taxes in, it's the place to get it back. We never give taxes back," Conti said wryly.

Some citizens, he said, are attempting to deduct $70 from their current tax bills.

He emphasized that the tax rebate will be mailed directly to homeowners by the State of California by June 15 after the claim cards are returned to the County Assessor and validated by Estes' office.

Time schedule according to Estes is as follows:

Deadline for return of the claim cards is April 15. Those not eligible to file claims include veterans who have received a $1,000 exemption for 1968 and persons on welfare.

Estes' office will validate the claim cards against the March 1 official assessment rolls and a certified list will then be sent to the State Controller for payment.

CRESTMOOR mathematics teacher Clell Bontrager explains the math principles involved in an arts and craft project of "Words and Numbers" student Dan Bocci. Bocci is one of 53 students involved in the special program.

Pack 296 Plans Blue, Gold Dinner

South San Francisco Cub Pack 296 is making arrangements for next month's Blue and Gold dinner at the Buri Buri School.

This event commemorates the birthday of Cub Scouting and will feature Cub Spirit as its theme.

Also next month the Pack will travel to Mare Island to tour a submarine.

At a recent Pack Night the audience was treated to an exhibition by Clifford Cormier and Tom Vellone, members of the Valley Gun Hawks Fast Draw Club. Fast gun drawing, fancy gun handling, and advice on the proper handling of guns was the order of the night. Cubs were hard put to keep up with the fast action of these two able gun handlers.
